

Past – Present matrix

The Past – Present matrix is designed to assist men in documenting and differentiating between the past and present; between the things that cannot be changed (the past effects of sexual abuse and the strategies that were used to cope/survive), and those that can (now and into the future).

